ST. MICHAEL'S COLLEGE, WINOOSKI, VERMONT

VOL. 15 NO. 21

Emmanuel, SMC Glee Clubs Sing Tonight

by Jim McMahon

The St. Michael's College Glee Club, directed by Mr. William Tortolano, will conclude one of the most successful years in its history with the presentation, with the women's chorus of Emmanuel College (Boston), of its annual Parents' Weekend Concert Saturday evening, May 12.

The joint concert will be presented at 8:15 pm, following the presentation at 7:30 of a short program of concert music by the AFROTC Band on the patio in front of the Student Union Building.

The Glee Club concert will in Austin Hall. The Emmanuel Glee Club will be directed by C. Alexander Peloquin, and will present its own program in addition to the pieces in which the clubs will combine--Brahms' Liebesslieder Walzer, and Offenbach's La Belle Helene.

Next year's program is already being planned, with a definite concert in Boston at Emmanuel scheduled.

Next year John Fanelli will succeed Dave Coupal as president of the club. Bill Brennan will replace James Garofano as vice-president, Thomas McGrail will assume the secretarial duties handled this year by Bill Brennan, and Ed Dery will succeed Tom Robinson as club librarian. Tom Corcoran will be the accompanist, a position held now by James Garofano, who is a graduating senior.

Ed Alger Named Yearbook Editor

Upon returning from the Easter vacation, Patrick Bergin, President of the Junior Class made the announcement that Edwin Alger will be Editor-in-Chief of the 1963 Shield.

Alger, a Biology Concentrator, was selected from eight candidates through an interview held by the class officers. He was chosen for his past experience in high school in Bergenfield, N.J. and his "creativity" Bergin said.

Ed Alger

The yearbook will be a class project with all giving a helping hand. "There will be more than enough work for everyone" said Alger. The dedication of the 1963 Shield will be announced at a later date.

Michaelmen Join Peace Corps Program

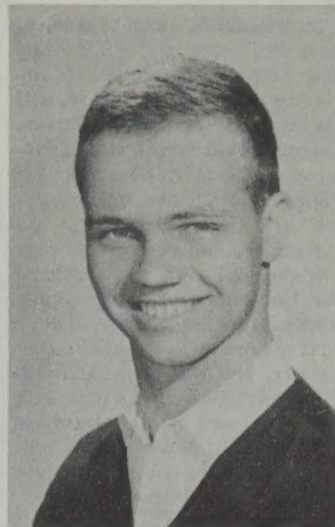

The Director of the Peace Corps, R. Sargent Shriver, has announced that three students from St. Michael's College have been accepted as Peace Corps Volunteers.

Seniors Mike Richardson and Bill Byrne have been tentatively appointed to Peru and Liberia, respectively, while freshman Don Riley expects to go to the Philippines. They are our first.

Richardson, a Government concentrator at St. Michael's, would like to teach English in Peru and work with the Indians.

Although he has been to Europe, Mike has never been to South America but has met several Latin American students and he feels that the Peace Corps program offers what he really wants to do in life. Mike lives in Weston, Conn.

Don Riley, from Dunkirk, N.Y., hopes to be a teacher's aide in the Philippines.

Don Riley

When asked about his reasons for joining the Peace Corps, Don replied that it was an excellent way to further his own education and, at the same time, do something positive toward international understanding.

Bill Byrne, an Economics concentrator, lives in Ramson, N.J.

TWO PHASES OF SERVICE

Selection of Peace Corps trainees and volunteers is based solely on merit and ability to perform the required service. That service is performed in two phases.

The first phase will be a domestic training period, which may include training at a Peace Corps Field Training Center in Puerto Rico as well as at an educational institution in the continental United States. During this training period, the service of some trainees may be terminated.

A trainee who successfully completes the domestic phase will be selected for immediate enrollment in the Peace Corps and assigned to the host country project for which he was trained. If he is not immediately enrolled, he may be selected and offered future assignments as a volunteer in other Peace Corps projects.

After a period of leave and enrollment in the Peace Corps, a volunteer will begin the second phase of his service, which will usually include a training period in the host country and subsequent assignment to duties in the host country.

TERM OF SERVICE

The term of the volunteer's service will usually be for 24 months including the training period. In unusual cases, the volunteer's tour may be longer than 24 months, but in no case will the period of service extend beyond 36 months.

Bishop Hines Speaks At Baccalaureate; RPI Vice-President At Commencement

by Norman Parrow

The Most Reverend Vincent J. Hines, D.D., J.C.D. will be the Baccalaureate speaker at this year's Commencement exercises of St. Michael's College, it has been announced by the Very Reverend Gerald E. Dupont, S.S.E., President of St. Michael's College.

He is currently serving as the Bishop of the Diocese of Norwich, Conn.

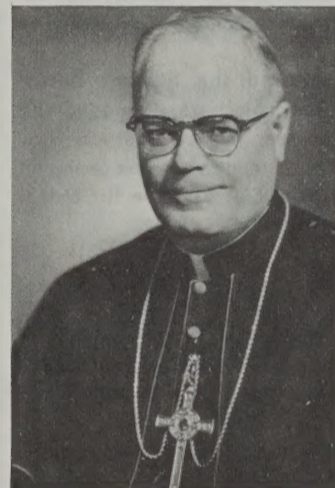

Bishop Hines was born in New Haven, Connecticut on September 14, 1912. He received his secondary education in the schools of New Haven, at St. Francis School on the grammar school level, and at Hillhouse High School. He next attended St. Thomas Seminary in Bloomfield, Conn. and from there went to Paris, France to study at St. Sulpice Seminary. He received the degree of Doctor of Canon Law at Lateran University in Rome, Italy.

Mr. John F. Morse

Bishop Hines will speak Sunday, June 3, at 8:30 p.m. in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception.

His new duties as president of

Most Reverend Vincent J. Hines, D.D., J.C.D.

The University of the Philippines will prevent Carlos Romulo from speaking at the 58th Commencement the next morning. His trustees have cabled him to return immediately.

His place as speaker will be taken by John F. Morse, vice-president of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Morse who had been invited to receive an honorary doctorate of Humane Letters with Rt. Rev. Msgr. Charles J. Marcoux of Burlington, agreed to give the commencement address when he was asked by Fr. Dupont.

Morse, vice-president of RPI since 1957, became on March 1, director of a long range study on federal program of higher education. He will direct the gathering of statistics and their analysis and will recommend changes in educational programs, administered, financed or operated by the Federal government. His fame as a speaker and writer is widespread.

Msgr. Marcoux, speaker at our Marian Day rally, is an alumnus and trustee of St. Michael's. He is pastor of St. Joseph's parish, Burlington.

Drill Team Wins Sixth Championship

by Robert Lilly

The St. Michael's College Air Force ROTC Unarmed Drill Team won its sixth straight New England championship at Westover Air Force Base, Chicopee, Massachusetts.

Under the leadership of Cadet Major Michael Mahovich and Cadet Captain William Backus the group scored 90.5 points out of a possible 100, to walk away with top honors.

The victory was the sixth in six years, making St. Michael's the only team in the Northeast ever to accomplish such a feat. The Knights also became the first team to retire two gold cups in a row.

In the morning elimination contest, SMC scored first with an impressive 87.7 points, followed by Lowell Technological Institute, Trinity College (Hartford, Conn.), and Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, in that order.

The Unarmed Drill Team retired its second straight trophy. St. Michael's College holds the distinction of being the only college in New England ever to retire any such trophies.

In winning, SMC defeated RPI, Trinity College (Hartford), and Lowell Technological Institute, respectively. The University of Massachusetts took top honors in the armed division, followed by Boston University, Holy Cross, and Tufts University.

Members of the team:

John J. Corrigan, John F. Durkin, Wallace H. French, II, Gerard C. Gleckle, Robert C. Lilly, Richard F. Lorenz, Dennis F. Marr, Richard A. Moyer.

Norman R. Roy, Bruce A. Steele, Paul A. Tamburello, Edward D. Bergin, Wayne R. Bordeau, Kim J. Buffington, James E. Couture, William K. Cronin.

Michael F. Deir, Joseph D. Foley, Terrance Flukes, William E. Stote, Thomas Thayer, Peter Vajda, Bertrand J. Roy.

Robert R. Wilkins, captain, USAF, is the advisor to the team.

Well, parents and friends, this last issue of THE MICHAEL-MAN is dedicated to all of you who are participating in the activities of Parents Week end, and especially to all the mothers on their day. We hope that your visit to St. Michael's is a pleasant and enjoyable one.

As you can see, the College has been growing year by year. Seniors can best attest to this growth. The dedication of Joyce Hall marks the completion of the dormitories and later on this year the next building, the priests' residence, is scheduled to be constructed.

Although none of us will be here as students when the building program is completed by 1970, at least we can find consolation when we think that while St. Michael's College was growing physically, we were growing intellectually and spiritually within the College.

By 1970 we hope that the gymnasium-auditorium is built and the crowding that might arise during tonight's concert will be non-existent. We know the music will be good.

DRILL TEAM EXCELS

Those who attend the ROTC Final Review on Sunday afternoon, will have the opportunity to see the St. Michael's Unarmed Drill Team performing for them. The Drill Team recently was proclaimed New England champions for the sixth straight year and retired its second trophy. Long hours of constant practice and perseverance have again paid off. We tip our hats to them.

MICHAELMEN JOIN PEACE CORPS

Congratulations are in order to seniors Mike Richardson and Bill Byrne and to freshman Don Riley on being accepted by the Peace Corps. Upon successful completion of a summer training in Puerto Rico, Mike will travel to Peru, Bill to Liberia and Don to the Philippines. Keep up the good work, boys.

LECTURE SERIES

With much regret we received the news that Mr. Carlos P. Romulo, a former U.N. delegate and Philippine ambassador to the U.S., will not be able to speak at the commencement exercises. His replacement, John Morse, comes highly recommended.

Speaking cancellations also impaired the Student Forum lecture series this year. The series committee engaged the largest number of prominent speakers in the last several years, but the unfortunate last-minute cancellations deprived the students of several of the lectures. Let us hope for better luck in the future.

ON THE CULTURAL ASPECT

The second issue of The Quest is completed. After several futile attempts in the recent past to publish a literary magazine on campus, the Quest seems to be here to stay. Read a review of the latest number in this issue of THE MICHAEL-MAN.

The Music Department will initiate a series of jazz, classical and folk concerts during next year. The lack of cultural programs of this nature has been evident in the past. We are glad to see this deficiency corrected. And a resident artist coming! Welcome, Cyril Sloan.

During the summer session, Players Incorporated will make use of the facilities offered by the St. Michael's Playhouse to stage a series of plays for the 12th season.

Michaelmen are hungering for the facilities of the Playhouse to present plays as well as to develop the talent that can be found among the students themselves. With some interest and effort, a dramatic club could be again established on campus. Maybe even each class could present an annual play and points towards the Victorious Knight trophy could again be awarded. What about it, Michaelmen?

READING PROGRAM

The developmental reading program sponsored by the college early in the second semester proved to be an invaluable asset to the 50 students and faculty members who participated in the course.

We hope that another such course be offered by the college for the benefit of all those who were not able to take the course this year. This course during the first semester would be most beneficial.

Well, final exams will begin in just four days. Buena suerte a todos.

On Saturday, May 12, during Parent's Weekend, radio station WSSE will hold an open house from 9:30 A.M. to 3 P.M. This will include displays of equipment and many special features. It is open to all. The radio station is located in St. Monica's apartment in Miketown.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• WARNING ON LAWN at Texas army base: "Short cut to KP." Drama Added To Curriculum

Donald Rathgeb, manager of the St. Michael's Playhouse, will join the St. Michael's College faculty in September as instructor in Drama.

Rathgeb, a veteran member of and technical director for Players Incorporated, the summer resident company at St. Michael's, will come to St. Michael's from the faculty of St. Mary's, Notre Dame, Indiana. He will again manage the summer Playhouse and remain at St. Michael's.

St. Michael's Dean of studies, Rev. Paul A. Morin, S.S.E., said that Rathgeb, in addition to directing student productions, will also teach Speech and two Drama courses. These Are: "Chief Patterns of Western Drama" and "Survey of Contemporary Drama".

Rathgeb, a native of Port Chester, N.Y., is a graduate of the University of Notre Dame, worked for his Master of Fine Arts degree at The Catholic University, and has also studied at Fordham University. A veteran of Players' tours in this country and abroad, Rathgeb was largely responsible for the design of the new St. Michael's Playhouse.

1,000 Attend May Day Rally Despite Weather

by Robert Lilly

Sunday afternoon, May 6, St. Michael's College presented its annual Marian Day celebration to pray for peace and to give honor to the Blessed Virgin Mary, Mother of God.

Because of poor weather, a large part of the procession had to be cut and the devotions were held in Austin Hall instead of on the athletic field, as previously planned.

At 4 o'clock members of the Senior Class began the devotions by leading the procession followed by the participants of the Living Rosary, members of the faculty, and the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus. The entire congregation sang the processional hymn, "Hail Holy Queen."

Following the Living Rosary, composed of members of the Senior Class, the Crown and Sword Society, girls from Trinity College, The Arnold Air Society and faculty members, was a sermon by the Right Reverend Monsignor Charles J. Marcoux, pastor of Saint Joseph's Church in Burlington.

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament ended the afternoon's devotions. Very Reverend Gerald Dupont, S.S.E., president of St. Michael's College was Celebrant, assisted by the Very Reverend Vincent Maloney, S.S.E., deacon and the Very Reverend Paul Morin, S.S.E., subdeacon.

Cochairmen John Schlegel and Joseph DeGrinney estimated that close to one thousand attended the devotion despite the bad weather.

Stoeckel Heads English Club

On May 2, the St. Michael's English Club held its final meeting of the year.

The following officers were elected to the indicated offices: President, R.W. Stoeckel, Jr.; Vice-President, Allan J. MacDonald; Secretary, Paul Tamburello; Treasurer, Kirk R. Weixel and Student Forum representative, Joseph McLaughlin.

The English Club plans for next year include an all-new speaker program and an expanded schedule of discussion groups.

The Quest Reviewed

by Allan J. MacDonald

Opening with an improved cover and rather clever frontpiece, the latest issue of The Quest continues with a tastefully sized if bland editorial.

The first story, bewilderingly titled "Sunlight in a Dusty Room", has to do with the smart set of Long Island society. The protagonist, who seems to be composed of three parts acid to no part backbone, describes in detail his relationship with his ex-fiancee who just happens to be the hostess of the cocktail party at which our friend finds himself.

Faced with his latest competition, he sits down and sullenly congratulates himself on the cleverness of his seemingly endless nasty thoughts. The heroine (?) soon reveals her own shallowness, runs from the room in tears whereupon our hero leaves. The next morning he gets beaten-up by his rival with whom he is very meek, calls up the girl with whom he is very tough and apparently all three live happily ever after.

Taken as a whole, the story may be said to suffer from a crippling case of overacidity. Although this is compensated for by good characterization and a fast style, the reader is still left with the impression that the author, in his effort to appear a Very Angry Young Man, succeeds only in appearing very young.

Picking another story at random, we found one titled "Mimic Me Mute" which dealt with a father, a mother, their 13 year old son, and the son's friend. The story accomplished its aim of evoking a feeling of pity for the son. However, it seemed that the characters were somewhat overdrawn and stereotyped; an over indulgent mother who would delight Philip Wylie; a father who suffers from the double handicap of being both a boor and a truant officer; and a boy who, if much younger would have been believable, appears instead to be little more than a spoiled brat.

Taken as a whole, the story is technically very weak. However, a mastery of dialogue is evident along with keen perception of plot structure.

The next story labeled, "Follow The Leader" turned out to be the best of the lot. This reviewer was delighted to find such well written, fast paced reading. Mystery, suspense, pathos and tragedy were all cleverly utilized to produce this first rate tale. Our unqualified congratulations to the author, Dan Gregory.

Leafing on, we found to our boundless joy, an essay. Dealing with the fascinating J.D. Salinger, this work was objective, concise, thorough, well documented and, in short, everything such an essay should be. Having lamented previously about the absence of essays in past issues of The Quest, we were very happy to see such a good one in this issue. A great deal of time spent in research is necessary to produce this type of work. For this and the aforementioned reasons, we congratulate the author, Tim Ryan.

The story read next was called "I Want To Die". Unfortunately, it came close to doing just that. In his anxiety to create a mood, the author became rather boringly repetitious. The plot, such as it was, was well drawn. However, the story's intention or message of "we are better off than we think" is a rather overworked one that would require a master craftsman to make enjoyable. Although the author's talent is unmistakable, it is hardly in the master class. In the future, we would suggest that this writer concentrate more on originality of theme rather than of technique.

"The Head; An Exterior" was a rather pleasant rambling reminiscence of youth in Vermont. However, dubious we are about the joys of a boyhood spent in Vermont, it must be admitted that the author did paint a very homey scene.

Thus we came to the end of the prose selections and started the poetry. Much to our chagrin we remembered that we couldn't read French. However, our translator assures us that the poem written in that language is of the first order.

There was, in addition, a poem that constituted an interesting experiment in word order. It was interesting, however, only as an experiment. Any other literary worth escaped this reviewer. We were happy to see the fine hand of Brother Brown in this issue. His work, as expected, raised the tone of the entire publication. All the other poetry was of the level that was to be expected.

When faced with the task of evaluating this issue as a unit, this reviewer is forced to admit that it is much superior to the previous effort. As a mater of fact, it is a publication that does honor to the school.

A reviewer is unfortunately saddled with the thankless task of evaluating each piece in regard to its literary merit. When faults are evident, as they invariably are with fledgling writers, they must be pointed out. However harsh a particular comment may have appeared, this reviewer will be happy to admit that every piece appearing in this issue is the work of talent. When this talent is pruned it will blossom.

Student Forum Convenes; Holds Officers Election

by Bill Eagan

The newly elected representatives to the Student Forum convened for the first time, May 1, and elected the Forum's officers for next year.

Pat Bergin, class of '63 representative was voted president, while Richard Santora, president of the class of '63, was chosen vice-president.

Class of '63 secretary, Andrew Fay became the Forum's treasurer, Mike Smith and Paul Tamburello, president and secretary of the class of '64, were elected recording secretary and corresponding secretary, respectively.

President Bergin appointed Frank Lytle, Class of '65 representative, parliamentarian and empowered him to make the revisions in the constitution that were approved in the elections.

The meeting was closed with a short talk from Fr. Coombs. He challenged the new Forum to show the responsibility to make student government a success on campus.

Pat Bergin

Lytle will also look into the possibility of joining a national student council association.

Following these elections, the Forum proceeded with their last meeting for the year.

Ed Olander moved that $180 be appropriated, so that four cable televisions could be placed in the new dormitories, under the Green Mountain Television Corporation. The only drawback to the project was that the cables might have to be run underground, thereby raising the installation cost. The motion was passed and action will be taken unless costs become prohibitive.

A motion was introduced by Mr. Santora that the movies be made a perpetual Junior class project. The motion was passed. Mr. Santora also asked that $325 be made available in order that work could start sooner next year on the Student Directory. This motion was also passed.

Mr. Gianelli's Book, Meaningful Logic, Published; Other Colleges To Benefit

Prof. Arnold P. Gianelli of St. Michael's College has received word that his book, Meaningful Logic, is now being distributed by Bruce Publishing Company.

Originally written for Philosophy classes at St. Michael's the book was privately published by the author and used by St. Michael's students. This fall, the new paper bound edition will be used not only at St. Michael's but at a number of other colleges across the country.

"Best logic book I've seen" is the judgment of Rev. Edmund J. Hamel, S.S.E., veteran professor of Philosophy at St. Michael's.

Gianelli, a British born Associate Professor of Economics, has taught for 30 years. Most of that time, he has brooded about the approach of traditional logic books, so he decided to do something about it.

"Logic", says Prof. Gianelli, "describes the adventures of the mind in its search for universality in a world of particulars. There is a good deal of drama in this search."

"My main desire", he says,

Fr. Morin and Mr. MacDonald examine Mr. Gianelli's new book at NCEA Convention, Detroit.

"is to make this book as readable as a novel. The book is a means to an end in studying Philosophy."

Quoting liberally from Kipling to St. Thomas Aquinas, Prof. Gianelli acknowledges his special debt to three philosophers: Jacques Maritain, H.W.B. Joseph of Oxford and William James of Harvard.

Gianelli questions whether it is necessary in an elementary text to have a student "work his weary way through the 64 possible moods of syllogisms, or even through the 19 valid modes, each with its now obsolete Latin name. He also maintains that the "logical" order of learning, the a priori method, ignores the "physiological" or a posteriori order.

Cadets Honored In Review

The 500 Air Force ROTC cadets at St. Michael's College will march in their annual review Sunday, May 13, at 1:30. Medals will be awarded to 18 outstanding cadets and awards given to members of outstanding units.

The Mothers Day review in the St. Michael's Stadium will be the final event in the annual Parents Weekend. Heading the dignitaries in the review stand will be F. Ray Keyser, Jr., governor of Vermont, Most Rev. Robert F. Joyce, bishop of Burlington, Very Rev. Gerald E. Dupont, S.S.E., Col. Norbert C. Treacy, and Maj. General Francis W. Billado who will take the review as Vermont's adjutant general.

The Military Order of the Loyal Legion medal for the most outstanding senior cadet will go to the cadet colonel, John P. Schlegel, Troy, N.Y.

The Chaplain John Verret Memorial Medal for continuous outstanding work in AFROTC training will go to Cadet Lt. Col. John A. Gianotti, Jr., Pompano Beach, Fla.

The Air Force Association medal for the most outstanding cadet officer will go to Cadet Lt. Col. Patrick F. Breen, Great Neck, N.Y.

The Retired Officers Association medal to the cadet who has contributed most to the AFROTC mission on campus will go to Cadet Major Michael Mahovich, Jr., Hagerstown, Md.

Mahovich, cadet leader of the drill team which this past week won its sixth straight championship in the Northeast, will lead his team through special routines for the several thousand spectators.

Other awards are:

General Dynamics Air Force ROTC Award - model aircraft and certificate to the most outstanding Basic Course cadet selected for the Advanced Course: Cadet Staff Sgt. John F. Durkin, Jr., Baldwin, N.Y.

American Legion Plaque and Medal - awarded to the cadet commander of the squadron receiving the highest efficiency rating 1961-62: Cadet Capt. Robert A. Poirier, Lewiston, Maine.

Reserve Officers Association - awarded to the most outstanding Air Science 3 cadet: Cadet Capt. Bard E. O'Neill, Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

Sons of the American Revolution - medals awarded to the outstanding cadet in each Basic Course academic year for character and leadership: Cadet Master Sgt. Joseph C. Guilfoyle, Port Washington, N.Y. and Cadet Airman Basic Thomas F. Thayer, Vernon, Conn.

Veteran of Foreign Wars Plaque and Medal - awarded to the

Chicago Tribune Awards - gold and silver medals presented to cadets for their outstanding performance: Cadet Lt. Col. Robert P. Warren, Jr., Ludlow, Mass.; Cadet Major Paul E. Haley, Brighton, Mass.; Cadet Capt. Michael J. MacDonald, Burlington, Vt.; and Cadet Capt. John W. Vandeventer, Burlington, Vt.

Professor of Air Science Drill Team Award - medal awarded to the most proficient member of the drill team: Cadet John J. Corrigan, Albany, N.Y.

Vermont Governor, F. Ray Keyser, Jr., presents Junior Week End Queen, Christa Hodgdon, a student at University of Bridgeport, a trophy. Looking on is Junior Tom Schappert, co-chairman of King and Queen committee. Miss Hodgdon was escorted by Junior Karl Duffy.

Incoming Freshmen Number 300

by Kirk R. Weixel

Next year's freshman class will be slightly larger than the present one with more than 300 students expected.

The largest enrollments are in the Humanities and Science fields. One third of those already accepted are in the Biology, Chemistry, or Mathematics concentrations, one fifth in the field of Business, and the balance in the Humanities division. This is somewhat unusual. The trend has been to have the larger enrollment in the Business concentration.

The students will come from the usual areas of the New England states, the states of New York and New Jersey, and Eastern Pennsylvania.

Of particular interest is that once again St. Michael's will be blessed with another set of twins as well as many brothers of present Michaelmen. This class will also be the first since World War II to be housed in brick dormitories rather than wooden barracks. The barracks will be no longer needed for residences due to the building of Joyce Hall, the new dormitory that will be opened this fall.

Many prospective freshmen, since they are unacquainted with college life, have many questions concerning what is expected of them when they enter St. Michael's. To answer these questions, a news letter will be sent sometime in June to all accepted students.

Revised Final Exam Schedule

WHAT, ME WORRY?

All reported conflicts have been resolved by rescheduling or by arranging special exams.

N.B. Again this year all students must present an admission card to each examination. Cards may be obtained at the Treasurer's Office beginning Friday, May 11th.

Exam proctors will collect cards in the exam rooms. Any student not having a card will be sent to the Registrar's Office with consequent time lost for examination period.

Four Michaelmen Help Establish Squires Circle

Four students at St. Michael's College have banded together to form the Columbian Squires, a group under the jurisdiction of the Knights of Columbus in Burlington.

Under the direction of chief counsellor Paul Provost, spiritual counsellor Father Bernard Couture of Don Bosco, social counsellor David Gravel, physical counsellor John Vandeventer, and civic-cultural counsellor John Olio an investiture was held in the Burlington K o C rooms on April 5.

Thirty boys were invested by the visiting St. Albans circle of Columbian Squires. The new Burlington circle is to be known as the Mystical Rose Circle, number 1058.

The Columbian Squires is an organization of boys between the ages of 13 and 18 in which the development of leadership in the individual is the main objective.

This objective is carried out through the formation of committees which conduct one activity apiece each month. These activities may be within the circle itself or they may be outside the range of the circle.

Cats Squeak By 5-4

Thursday, April 3, in a game that was rescheduled from the preceeding Monday when rains cancelled out what was to be St. Michael's College's season opener, the Knights took their initial loss of the campaign by dropping a heartbreaking 5-4 decision to arch rival UVM.

UVM HAS EARLY LEAD

UVM got off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning as Tim Tomasi's throwing error let in one run and left fielder Bob Sherrif drove in another with a single.

Tomasi redeemed himself in the third inning by singling in his team's first run. The game was tied an inning later when starting pitcher Tom Lapine helped his own cause by bringing in Jim Pawlowski on a single.

The Catamounts again assumed a two run lead by tallying twice in the fourth on three hits, a sacrifice and an infield error.

Bucky Egan's fifth inning base hit which drove in Tomasi from third made the score 4-3. Some brilliant base running by Mickey Moughan, who had replaced Stan Buczak in left field three innings earlier, threw the game into a tie once again.

Moughan had opened the inning with a single and went all the way to third on Bruce Martin's well placed bunt down the third base line. When UVM's second sacker Dick Boutilier, trying to nip the fleet Moughan at third, threw wildly into the stands, Mickey came scampering home with the equalizing run.

in and wild-pitched another run home.

STRAND 14

Moughan, starting his first game in a SMC uniform, was clearly the hitting star of the day for the Knights, accounting for a triple and a single in five times at bat.

Bruce Martin, who went 2 for 4 and Ron Lysik and Bucky Egan, each of whom slammed singles, finished out the 6 hit St. Michael's attack.

SMC had plenty of baserunners all game as they were dealt 11 bases on balls by Rossi, but just could not seem to capitalize on them. They left 14 runners on base.

Wayne Van Ham, Tomasi's third error and Sherrif's fourth single of the afternoon. Star Slugger Levi Brown, who had been injured several days earlier in a game with Rhode Island then was sent to the plate as a pinch hitter and walked on four pitches, thus forcing in the winning run.

Lapine opened the game for the Knights and worked the first six innings before being relieved by Rod Bushel who absorbed the defeat.

The Knights enjoyed a good day at the plate, ripping three UVM pitchers for 11 singles. Mike Sweeney, John Whitcomb, Ron Lysik and Egan all had two hits apiece.

Dupras Twirls 5 Hitter, Defeats Middlebury 7-2

by Mike Martin

The Diamond Knights of SMC began the 1962 season with a 7-2 victory over Middlebury at Panther field.

Junior Fred Dupras turned in a five hitter as the stocky red head went all the way in the 40° weather.

It didn't take the Purple long to get rolling as they reached Middlebury pitcher, Newt Baker, for two runs in the first inning. Jim Pawlowski drove home the runs with a long double after a single and a walk put men on base.

In the third inning a Mike Sweeney triple, a balk, and some sloppy fielding by the Panthers combined to produce three more SMC runs. The final tallies for the Knights came in the fifth as Ron Lysik knocked in two unearned runs with a double. After this, Baker settled down and retired 12 of the last 13 men, he faced.

Middlebury picked up single markers in the fourth and eighth innings with Weekes and Warner leading the attack with two hits apiece. Dupras' performance was very impressive considering the temperature and the fact that is was our first game. The Rouses' Point speedballer fanned 8 while yielding only three free passes.

Both Sweeney and John Whitcomb picked up right where they left off last season, as they accounted for four of the Knights' six hits.

From The Stands

by Bob Butler

If it's not one problem it's another. And this season coach Ed Markey has had his problems - lots of them. Earlier in the year it was the question of scheduling games - how to fit a host of contests into so short a span of time as the college baseball season here at the Hilltop which can not offer a spring trip south. There was the problem of early spring snows and the devastating effects on the team's workouts.

Then the rains came and the cancellations and the even more cramped nature of the schedule that this resulted in.

Now it's the matter of close scores which plague the SMC hardball coach. A heartbreaking 5-4 loss to highly-touted UVM and almost as frustrating 7-4 defeat at the hands of Clarkson - in which a promising SMC rally was suddenly squelched by a last out circus catch - must make everyone here at the Hilltop wonder where, oh where, do the breaks have to come from?

In the first game of the double-header with St. Lawrence, it looked like Dame Fortune was at last beginning to take a more benevolent attitude toward the Knights. The team got together in combining timely hitting and strong pitching into a really impressive victory.

And for five innings of the second game, there was further evidence that the squad had really come into its own. Enjoying a 3-0 lead with only two innings remaining, SMC looked like a sure bet to up the record past the .500 mark and go on to bigger things in later games.

An explosive four run St. Lawrence fifth, with a highly disputed close play at third which could have been the pivotal move of the game, was enough to considerably dampen all such hopes.

It's a shame that the college baseball season is so short for, given enough time, there is no question but that the Knights could give a far better account of themselves than their 2-3 record would indicate.

But in a season which lasts for only two weeks at the very most - and which is further shortened by disagreeable weather - there isn't much chance for a team as a whole, as an integrated unit, to improve upon their mistakes. One slump and bang! - a lousy season. There isn't time to recover.

There is a great deal of potential on this club as even a superficial glance at the lineup would indicate. One could not ask for a better job to be done behind the plate than what John Whitcomb is doing. And Mike Sweeney's play at short has been excellent. Ron Lysik has been banging the ball well in each of the games he has played in. Mickey Moughan has shown some authoritative hitting also. And a favorable indication can be said of each of the ballplayers - the material is undeniably present for a fine ball-club. The coaching leaves little to be desired also.

Clearly then the main fault of the team lies in its rustiness as functioning as a whole. To be sure its performance for the most part has been sub par but the faults can all be remedied with the experience of a few games and the benefit of practices spaced in between. Nothing that a little time could not cure, yet oh what a scarce commodity around baseball circles!

Clarkson Stews Knights' Rally And Wins 7-4

On Saturday, May 5, against Clarkson, Coach Ed Markey's charges staged a ninth inning rally that almost was enough to overcome a six run deficit. Had it not been for a circus catch of "Peanuts" Kazanowcke's blooper by Clarkson second baseman Jim Bower the game could well have gone the other way.

WILD NINTH

Starting pitcher Dave Rossi saw a 7-1 lead dwindle to 7-3 when he walked the first three men to face him in the ninth and then gave up a two run single to Mickey Moughan. With the bases full and nobody out, the Clarkson coach brought in reliever Ed Breutch and he promptly got Bucky Egan to ground out, one run scoring.

He then proceeded to get a 2-2 count on Kazanowcke, subbing for the injured Mike Sweeney. He hit what looked like a Texas league single deep behind first and second. Here is where Bower responded with his heroics by making a beautiful back-to-the plate catch. He then threw to second base to double up Moughan.

For the first six innings, the score was tied and SMC starter Fred Dupras had allowed only one run up to that time. He allowed two runs to cross the plate in the seventh and was responsible for two of the three Clarkson runs produced an inning later when he gave up a walk, a single and a two run triple off the bat of pitcher Rossi.

John Jachym was then brought

Knights Split With Larries; Lapine In Near Shut Out

Bruce Martin leads things off in the first game against St. Lawrence as Mike Sweeney limbers up in the deck circle. The Knights went on to win this one by a score of 5 - 2.

After winning the first game of their doubleheader with St. Lawrence 5-2 on a neat 9 hitter by Tom Lapine, St. Michael's proceeded to drop the second contest by a 6-4 score. Both games were seven inning affairs.

3 RUN THIRD

The Knights clinched the first game on a three run third. Don Egan reached on an error, Lapine walked and then, after the next two men flied out, Jim Pawlowski brought in Egan with a single.

John Whitcomb then cracked a sharp single to left to account for two more scores.

In the fourth SMC scored another run on Ron Lysik's well-tagged triple and Egan's sacrifice fly.

Lapine, who had a five hit shutout for six innings, weakened noticeably in the last frame. He gave up a two base hit to Joe Sullivan and then retired the next two batters. Sullivan scored on Dick Metcalf's single. Two successive hits were enough to bring Sullivan across the plate but on the play, due to some heads-up work by catcher John Whitcomb, Al Pritchard was caught off third base to end the game.

For the Knights, who accounted for seven hits, Whitcomb was the batting star, going two for three and accounting for three rbi.

The second game saw St. Michael's take a 3-0 lead at the end of five innings, only to drop the final verdict by having six runs scored against them in the final two frames.

After breaking the ice with a run in the third, the Markeymen really missed their golden opportunity two innings later when a double play killed what appeared to be a big rally.

Starting pitcher Rod Bushelled off by flying out to center. Martin walked, Sweeney then teamed up with his diminutive teammate on a beautifully executed hit and run advancing Martin to third. Sweeney stole second and Martin, faking a steal home, drew a throw to third and scored when Jeff Johns let the ball get by him.

Pawlowski then singled in Sweeney making the score 3-0.

When Whitcome flied out to center, Pawlowski was off and running at the crack of the bat and was easily doubled up, putting ting a quick end to the rally. In the St. Lawrence half of the sixth the roof caved in on right-handed Bushel who until that point had a sparkling one-hitter going. After allowing a scratch single and a walk, Bushel spelled disaster for himself by giving up a booming two-run triple to deep center by Metcalf.

Reliever John Royko was rudely greeted by Daniel's single which scored the Larries' third run. A single by Salfi with two on gave the Larries the lead for the first time!!!

St. Lawrence added their final two markers in the seventh on singled by Daniels and Steiner.

The Knights did their best to rally in the seventh but could muster only a single run on a walk, a passed ball and Martin's second hit of the day.

Golfers Win Two As Sharis Sets New Record

The SMC golf team sports a 2-1 record after chalking up victories over Clarkson and Plattsburg and dropping a match with St. Lawrence.

Junior Walt Sharis wasted no time in attaining mid-season form, shooting a 74 against Plattsburg and a 69 in the St. Lawrence tilt. Both figures represented low scores for their matches and the latter figure is a school record.

In the May 4 match with Clarkson, a 4-3 victory for the Knights, Sharis won his match 3-2 while Don Bank prevailed 5-3. Sophomore Jim Sweet and junior Tom Moylan were the other Knights to come out on top in their encounters.

Two days later, SMC swept Plattsburg 6-0 as all the SMC linksmen, John Colangelo and Marty King in addition to the above mentioned players, emerged victorious.

Against the Larries on May 7, SMC, despite the closeness which characterized all their matches, The Knights could manage only two victories. They lost by a 5-2 score.
